CONTENTS

J. D. ALSOP, The Act for the Queen's Regal Power, 1554 261

MARY KEELER, The Committee for Privileges of the House of Commons, 1604–1610 and 1614 147

STEPHEN FARRELL, Division Lists and the Nature of the Rockingham Whig Party in the House of Lords, 1760–1785 170

G. M. DITCHFIELD, The House of Lords and the Impeachment of Warren Hastings 277

ELLIS ARCHER WASSON, The Crisis of the Aristocracy: Parliamentary Reform, the Peerage and the House of Common, 1750–1914 297

JOHN A. PHILLIPS, QUASSHing M.P.s and Electors: New Perspectives on Parliamentary History 1

DONALD GINTER, Unofficial Division Lists of the British House of Commons, 1761–1820: A New Data Base and its Implications 11

DAVID EASTWOOD, Men, Morals and the Machinery of Social Legislation, 1790–1840 190

GARY COX, The Development of Collective Responsibility in the United Kingdom 32

JOHN A. PHILLIPS and CHARLES WETHERELL, Parliamentary Parties and Municipal Politics: 1835 and the Party System 48

CHERYL SCHONHARDT-BAILEY, Linking Constituency Interests to Legislative Voting Behaviour: The Role of District Economic and Electoral Composition in the Repeal of the Corn Laws 86

WILLIAM C. LUBENOW, The Liberals and the National Question: Irish Home Rule, Nationalism, and the Relationship to Nineteenth-Century Liberalism 119

Project Report:

JULIAN HOPPIT, JOANNA INNES and JOHN STYLES, Towards a History of Parliamentary Legislation, 1660–1800 312

Review Articles:

G. L. HARRISS, The Medieval Parliaments 206

SIMON PAYLING, The Waning of Noble Lordship in Late Fifteenth-Century England 322

S. J. CONNOLY, Late Eighteenth-Century Irish Politics 227

JON LAWRENCE, The Decline of English Popular Politics 333

E. H. H. GREEN, Churchill Reappraised 338
VERNON BOGDANOR, The Rise and Fall of the Post-War Settlement 351
Reviews 236-59
363-87
Noticeboard 388